Mystic's 2026 U.S. Stamp Catalog

The Catalog for Stamp Collectors

Volume 1

The Birth of Airmail

Introduced in 1918, Airmail delivered letters faster than ever before. You can own the first stamp issued for this historic service – a key addition to your US collection. Discover more inside...

From Don...

Donald Sundman
Mystic Stamp Company

Dear Friend,

Mystic's U.S. Stamp Catalog is your go-to collecting tool! It pictures nearly every US stamp with Scott numbers plus, stamp stories, collecting tips, and so much more...

Including Airmails – in fact, the first US Airmail stamp is featured on the cover. Fun fact – it pictures one of the Curtiss Jennys that participated in the first airmail flight on May 15, 1918! You can see the plane's number (38262) on the stamp. You'll find this and more US Airmail stamps starting on page 160.

And if you need the 2025 stamps, you'll find them all inside starting on page 157.

For your convenience, we have complete sets of commemoratives and definitives (like the one to the right). Or get them all in one big set and save even more time and money. It's a great value.

Happy Collecting,

Mystic Stamp Company

Now You Can Get the Stamps Every Collector Dreams of Owning

The first United States Postage Stamps, the 5¢ and 10¢ issues of 1847, began a new era in mail service. Before adhesive stamps revolutionized the US postal system, letters were marked "Paid" by pen and ink, and by various hand-stamping devices.

America's First Stamps... the Cornerstone of Your Collection

America's first postage stamps went on sale on July 1, 1847. Now over 170 years old, they represent a crucial stage of US history. As a nation, America was taking shape at that time, and these stamps played an important part in its growth.

The 5¢ issue of 1847 (Scott #1) features a portrait of Benjamin Franklin. Franklin is credited with organizing America's postal service back in the 1700s. On July 26, 1775, he was appointed by the Continental Congress as the first postmaster general of the Confederation – which was of great importance to communications during the Revolutionary War. With this background, it's easy to see why Franklin was given the honor of appearing on America's first postage stamp! The 10¢ issue of 1847 (Scott #2) pictures George Washington, Revolutionary War hero and the first US president.

These Philatelic Treasures are Becoming Harder to Find

All collectors love owning firsts, which is why the first US stamps are now so extremely rare and valuable. As you can imagine, many collectors lock these stamps away in permanent collections that are passed from generation to generation. One thing is for sure – less and less of the stamps of 1847 are available each year. They have become increasingly difficult, and expensive, to acquire.

Make Your Collecting Dreams Come True

We recommend you add these world-famous stamps to your collection today. After a century of serving stamp collectors, you can rely on Mystic Stamp Company's experience to make your stamp collecting dreams come true. We guarantee your satisfaction.

After the Civil War began, previous US stamps were declared invalid for postage. The Series of 1861-62 was released on August 17, 1861, to replace the demonetized stamps.

The Portrait on the #73 “Black Jack” is Also Found on a Confederate Stamp!

With the start of home delivery in 1862, a 2¢ stamp was needed. Scott #73 picturing our 7th president, Andrew Jackson, was issued. The famous stamp is known to collectors as “Black Jack” and also “Big Head,” since the portrait takes up so much space on the stamp.

Curiously, an 1863 Confederate 2¢ stamp uses the same portrait – painted by Miner Kilbourne Kellop or a miniature by John Wood Dodge. So the USA and CSA both had 2¢ stamps with the same Jackson portrait during the Civil War!

#77 is First Mourning Stamp Issued

One year after President Abraham Lincoln was assassinated, a 15¢ black stamp was issued to honor his memory. Scott #77 is the first mourning stamp ever produced.

This stamp is based on a photo of Lincoln taken by C.S. German in 1861, shortly before the 16th president was inaugurated.

24¢ #78 Stamp is Different from #70

George Washington is pictured on the 24¢ red lilac stamp in the issue of 1861-62 (Scott #70). Another 24¢ Washington, #78, was released on February 20, 1863. It has a darker lilac tone than #70 and should not be confused with the earlier stamp.

America's Rarest Stamps

Grills were made by embossing a stamp, breaking the front of its fibers, and allowing canceling ink to soak deeply into the paper. This made it difficult to remove cancels and reuse stamps. Charles Steel, who oversaw postage stamp production in the 1860s, patented the grilling method. It was used during the nine years (1867-75) grills were made (US #79-179c).

In 1998, Mystic bought the 1-cent Z Grill. With only two known, it's the rarest US stamp. In 2005, Mystic traded the 1¢ Z Grill for the one-of-a-kind Inverted Jenny Error Plate-Number Block, a six-million-dollar trade.

Don Sundman of Mystic Stamp traded the 1¢ Z Grill for the Jenny Invert Plate-Number Block.

Now You Can Get the Stamps Every Collector Dreams of Owning

The 1869 Pictorial stamps were the first US stamps to feature something other than the bust or head of a famous American leader. Never before had stamps illustrated paintings, horses, or locomotives.

What is truly surprising is that the new stamps were unpopular with the public. Many thought it was unpatriotic to replace statesmen with trains and ships. In fact, the Pictorials were so unsuccessful they were withdrawn from sale within a year of release.

The stamps were printed by the National Bank Note Company, and all have the G grill pattern. Numbers 118-122 were the first two-color US stamps.

The 1869 Pictorials are philatelic treasures. They were groundbreaking and a preview of the commemoratives to come. Today these stamps, printed during the 1840-70 Classic period, are among the most sought-after in the world. The short printing time adds to their collectibility. Pictorials are difficult to find today and are prized in both mint and used conditions.

“Bank Note” Stamps... A Fascinating Area of Philately!

Because the 1869 Pictorial Series was unpopular, new stamps were issued the following year. Nicknamed the “Bank Notes,” this series was printed by three prominent bank note printing companies – the National, Continental, and American Bank Note Companies, in that order.

When Continental Bank Note Co. began printing stamps in 1873, “secret marks” were added as follows:

- #156 The “pearl” to the left of the numeral “1” has a small crescent in its bottom half.
- #157 Scroll lines above “U.S.” at the top of the design are joined with a small diagonal line.*
- #158 Lower part of ribbon at left bottom of numeral “3” is heavily shaded.
- #159 The first 4 vertical lines in the lower part of the ribbon to the left of the “six” are darker.
- #160 Small semi-circles cover the tips of the opening in the ornament at the bottom-right corner.
- #161 Small crescent cut into the ball directly under “E” of POSTAGE.
- #162 The balls in the numeral “2” are crescent, rather than round, making a much more ornate script.
- #163 The triangle in the upper-left corner has two lines which have been darkened to form a V.*
- #165 No secret marks, but the Continental is gray-black, while the National 30¢ is black.
- #166 Color difference only – rose carmine ink was used instead of the original carmine.

*Often, the secret marks on #157 and #163 are not visible and the stamps must be distinguished by color.

Smaller-Sized Stamps

Though the designs used from 1890-93 were similar to previous issues, the stamps were smaller in size and featured different shades of color than had previously been seen. The new stamps pictured famous Americans.

Varieties of the 2¢ Washington

Printed in lake, the 2¢ Washington stamp (Scott #219D) was criticized for its color. The stamp was re-issued in carmine, and some interesting varieties occurred.

On Scott #220a, a "cap" is seen on the left numeral "2" - where ink failed to transfer to the stamp. On #220c, "caps" are seen on both the left and right numerals. Very popular among collectors, these stamps are commonly called the "Cap varieties."

The two highest-value Columbians were too expensive for most people to own when they were issued. Even today, they are often the final stamps a collector needs for a complete Columbian set.

The $4 Columbian was the first US stamp to picture a woman. Queen Isabella of Spain financed Columbus's expedition.

The image on the $5 stamp was also used on a commemorative half dollar coin issued by the US Mint. The same engraver created both miniature works of art.

America's First Commemoratives

The Columbian Series was issued in conjunction with the spectacular Columbian Exposition of 1893, which celebrated the 400th anniversary of Christopher Columbus's discovery of the New World. The series was used to advertise the event – the first time postage stamps were used to promote a commercial event.

In 1992, to celebrate the 500th anniversary of Columbus's discovery, the original printing plates from 1893 were used to create six souvenir sheets. These stamps are listed on page 75.

Today, the original Columbians are among the most treasured of all US stamps. In fact, the degree of completion of this series is often a yardstick by which a US collection is measured! They will surely grow harder to find in the future, so we recommend you get your Columbians while they're still available.

Washington Designs

248-50, 265 Type I

The horizontal lines are the same thickness and continue through the entire triangle.

251, 266 Type II

The horizontal lines go through the triangle, but are thinner on the inside than on the outside.

252, 267 Type III

The lines are thin on the inside of the triangle and do not cross the frame lines of the triangle.

The "Chicago Counterfeits" of the 1894 2¢ U.S. Stamps

The most talked-about counterfeits of US stamps occurred in 1895 – when an ad in the Chicago Tribune stated that a Canadian firm had $115 worth of 2¢ US stamps it couldn't use in Canada, and would sell them for $100.

Several dealers and others answered the ad. All received the proper number of 2¢ stamps! However, a philatelic expert detected that they were counterfeit, and the authorities managed to close down the operation. The fake stamps were "Two Centers" with Type I triangles to simulate Scott #250.

Watermarks Added to Prevent Counterfeiting

The United States printed stamps on watermarked paper from 1895 to 1915. The watermarks, consisting of the letters "USPS" (for United States Postal Service), were faint patterns impressed into the paper during its manufacture. Often only a single letter or a portion of a letter is found on a single stamp.

Since the special watermark paper may already have been ordered at the time of the "Chicago Counterfeits," the Postal Service may have anticipated the possibility before it actually happened. Other nations had used watermarking earlier.

The "USPS" watermarks are in single line or double line letters. To see a watermark, put the stamp in a watermark tray face down and add a few drops of watermark fluid. The mark (or part of it) should show clearly, though it is sometimes difficult to distinguish between single line and double line.

America's Last 19th Century Series

The Trans-Mississippi stamps of 1898 are among the scarcest and most desirable of all US issues. They were created in conjunction with the 1898 Trans-Mississippi and International Exposition, which was held to further the progress and development of natural resources west of the Mississippi.

All the stamps are based on original paintings, photos, and drawings by artists like Frederick Remington. These stamps are considered by many to have the finest engraving of any US stamps.

The series was supposed to be two-color but the Spanish-American War began in April 1898. The time and manpower needed for two-color printing was not available. A few months later, on December 31, 1898, distribution of the stamps was halted, and all unsold quantities recalled and destroyed. Today, the Trans-Mississippi stamps are scarce.

In 1998, the stamps were reprinted to commemorate the 100th anniversary of their issue. This time, two colors were used as originally intended. See page 93.

Pan-Am Commemoratives – First Stamps of the New Century

In 1901, the Pan-American Exposition was held in Buffalo, New York. It showcased progress the New World had made during the 19th century and honored engineering and industrial achievements. A series of six stamps was issued in conjunction with the Exposition. As a reflection of America's fascination with speed, half of the stamps have "Fast" in their title.

In 2001, inverted varieties of the 1¢, 2¢, and 4¢ Pan-Americans were re-issued to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the stamps. See page 101.

An Ornate New Design for the Regular Issues

Starting in 1902, the Regular Issues got fancy new designs, and for the first time, a woman was honored – Martha Washington! Two other new faces were introduced in this series: Benjamin Harrison, our 23rd president; and US Admiral David Farragut, Union naval commander during the Civil War.

Today, this series is prized by collectors as an excellent representation of early 20th-century US stamps at their best!

Stamp Series Honors America's Greatest Bargain

The Louisiana Purchase, obtained from France in 1803 for $15 million, almost doubled the size of the US and encouraged westward expansion. It was commemorated in 1904 with this series.

The purchased land became the states of Arkansas, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma, as well as portions of eight other states and two Canadian provinces.

1908-1909 New Designs

In 1908, the Post Office Department issued a new set of definitive (regular issue) stamps. While the 1¢ stamp carried a profile of Benjamin Franklin, all the rest bore a profile of George Washington.

The border designs were identical, with a much cleaner and more modern look than previous issues. The uniformity and simpler design made preparation work easier and extended the life of the printing plates.

The $2 and $5 denominations were discontinued. Demand for the stamps decreased as international rates fell and the weight that could be sent per package was increased.

While 1908-09 designs remained in use for several years, there were several varieties of perforations and watermarks. See stamps listed below.

First BEP Speedy Stamps

In 1894, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing (BEP) began printing US stamps, including Special Delivery or "Speedy" stamps. Using plates from the American Bank Note Company, the BEP added a line under "ten cents" to distinguish its stamps from other issues. #E5 was printed on double line watermark paper.

Imperforates Issued for Coil Makers

The 1908-09 stamps were issued in imperforate form for private coil makers. These coil manufacturers joined the sheets, then cut them into strips, which were themselves joined to form very long coils. For example, the 2-cent carmine Washington was issued in 400-stamp sheets. These were divided into sheets of 100. Fifteen of these sheets were pasted together, and cut into coils of 3,000. Every twentieth stamp on the coils was pasted together. Long coils worked well in the new coil machines of the day.

Experimental Paper on a 2¢ Stamp Reprint Gives Bluish-Gray Look

In 1909, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing was experiencing shrinkage of stamp paper. In an experiment, about one-third rag stock was added to the wood pulp in hopes of reducing the shrinkage. The change didn't help much and was soon abandoned.

Stamps printed on the experimental paper are bluish gray in appearance and are scarce collector favorites today.

1909 Commemorative Honors Our 16th President's Birth

On the 100th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth in 1909, a 2¢ commemorative went on sale. Based on a statue in Chicago by Augustus St. Gaudens, the stamp was issued both perforate and imperforate, as well as on experimental paper – the scarce #369. 1909 was also the first year of the Lincoln penny.

The Alaska-Yukon Issue of 1909 Honors William Seward

Seattle, Washington, held the Alaska-Yukon Exposition to celebrate the development of this far-northern territory. A commemorative publicized both the territory and the exposition.

The original design for this stamp was a seal on an ice floe. Afraid potential visitors would think Alaska was always icy cold, the Exposition Committee opted for a portrait of William Seward. Seward negotiated the purchase of Alaska from Russia in 1867 for just $7.2 million.

Most Alaska-Yukon stamps were issued perforate (#370). A far smaller number were imperforate (#371). Today, the imperforates are difficult to find in both mint and used condition.

Two Hudson River Events Honored

In 1609 (300 years earlier), Henry Hudson discovered the river in his sailing ship, the Half Moon; and in 1807, Robert Fulton proved that his steamship, the Clermont, did indeed work – the first successful navigation with a steam-powered ship.

This stamp pictures both the Hudson and Fulton ships. The Native Americans in canoes show the first means of navigating this scenic river.

Far fewer imperforate stamps were issued, so the #373 stamps are much scarcer.

A New Single Line Watermark Paper is Introduced

In 1910, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing made the decision to change the USPS watermark. In addition to reducing the size of the letters, the style was changed from a double line to a single line. The purpose was to strengthen the paper and give it a more uniform thickness, since the old watermark had a tendency to weaken the structure of the paper.

Perf. 8½

The Difference Between Perf. 8½ and Perf. 12

Perforations are holes punched between stamps to make separating easier. A perforation number (such as 8½ or 12) indicates the number of holes in a space of 2 centimeters along the edge of a stamp – best determined by using a perforation gauge. The perf. 8½ above has 8½ perfs per 2 centimeters, while the perf. 12 above has 12 perfs per 2 centimeters.

Placed on sale in 1913, this commemorative series was issued to publicize the upcoming 1915 Panama-Pacific International Exposition in San Francisco. The exposition celebrated the opening of the Panama Canal, and honored the discovery of the Pacific Ocean 400 years earlier.

When regular issue stamps were changed to perf. 10 in 1914, to strengthen the sheets the Panama-Pacific commemoratives changed too. Yet few collectors bothered to save the new stamps, so the perf. 10s are notably scarcer today.

The first 10¢ stamps were found to be too light in color, so a darker shade was adopted in the latter part of 1913. Scott #400 was discontinued in favor of #400A.

Get the Complete Mint Parcel Post Set

Parcel Post stamps were issued to help account for the revenue raised by the Postal Service's delivery of packages. This new service, introduced in 1912, was a hit with rural America. Six months later, officials decided the 12 stamps issued to indicate payment for the service were unnecessary. Today a complete set can be difficult to find – especially in mint condition. Act now and save $137.75 off Mystic's regular price.

Watermarks Change, but Double Line Paper Remains

When a stronger Single Line Watermark was introduced, a quantity of Double Line paper remained. So 50¢ and $1 stamps (422 & 423) were printed on Double Line paper, though the 50¢ was also printed on the new Single Line (421).

Perforations Changed in 1914 from "12" to "10"

The Postal Service received complaints, particularly from heavy-user businesses, that sheets perforated 12 were too brittle and fell apart at the slightest touch. To strengthen the sheets, perforating machines were altered to 10 perforations per 2 centimeters.

#523 an Error in Color...

The 1918 $2 Franklin stamp – US #523 – pictures the Founding Father in black with a striking orange red frame.

Two years after it was issued, the $2 Franklin stamp – US #547 – suddenly appeared with a carmine frame. Collectors thought they'd discovered a color error, which postal officials denied. Upon further investigation, they learned the original 1918 stamp was the error!

Because the discovery was made more than two years after US #523 was issued, few were saved – making the stamp scarce today.

Accidental Variety Created in 1917 with the #519 Stamp

In 1917, the New York postmaster had about 1,500 sheets of imperforate 2¢ stamps of the 1908 issue (#344). When he tried to return them for credit, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing instead had the stamps perforated and released for general sale. Most were used and destroyed before collectors learned of their existence – making them difficult to find now.

Today, forgers attempt to create the scarcer #519 stamp by adding fake perforations to the more common #344. Mystic's stamp expertise assures you'll receive the correct stamp.

The Switch to Offset Printing

Effective November 2, 1917, the first-class letter rate rose to 3¢, which greatly increased the demand for 3¢ stamps – and also for 1¢ stamps, to go with 2¢ stamps and stamped envelopes already purchased.

Operating at full capacity, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing found its ink to be of poor quality – probably due to difficult conditions during World War I. The ink contained so much grit that printing plates wore out in about 10 days, faster than it took to make them. So the Bureau switched temporarily to offset printing, for which plates could be produced much more rapidly. Later, a more satisfactory ink was found, and the higher-quality engraving process used previously was re-established.

"Victory" and Flags of Allies

This stamp was inspired by America's victory in World War I, known as "The war to end all wars." The stamp's design features the victorious goddess of liberty, wearing armor and helmet. In one hand she holds a sword, and in the other the balanced "scales of justice."

Directly behind Liberty is the Stars and Stripes, surrounded by the flags of America's closest allies: Great Britain, Belgium, Italy, and France.

1919-21 "Coil Waste" Issues... Interesting Varieties for Stamp Collectors

A supply of coil stamp sheets had been set aside in 1919 as "waste" due to poor centering or other defects. They had been perforated vertically, or horizontally, while some were not perforated at all.

Usually such "coil waste" stamps were destroyed. But in an economy measure, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing decided to issue the stamps in sheets. A quantity of stamps, already perforated 10 vertically, were perforated horizontally with the current 11-gauge machines. So the stamps, Scott numbers 538, 540, and 541, were issued with 11 horizontal by 10 vertical perforations.

The first experimental stamp was made with 10 x 11 perforations (US #542). Because the stamps were printed on the rotary press, the paper curled. The sheets were found to be too brittle so the perforation gauge was adjusted to 10 x 10 for US #543. This produced far fewer separations, and US #543 was issued in greater quantities.

“...For the General Good of the Colony”

With these words, a tradition was born. The Mayflower Compact, signed in November 1620, was drawn up before the Pilgrims came ashore. To those aboard the storm-battered Mayflower, it was an agreement to abide by rules not yet decided upon. To posterity, this was the first agreement for self-government ever enacted in America, the spirit of which later became the very foundation of self-rule.

Three hundred years later, those who arrived in Plymouth, Massachusetts, were commemorated with this three-stamp issue. The series design was criticized for being “too crowded,” “badly centered,” and the only US stamp without country designation. Collectors today recognize the great skill needed for the fine detail work seen on these stamps. Within a very small area the engravers created a real masterpiece, capturing the historical importance and emotion of its subject.

The Wheels of Progress

The regular series of 1922 was the last to be printed by flat plate press. By 1926, all denominations up to 10 cents (except for a new 1½¢) were printed by rotary press. For a time, $1-$5 issues were done on flat press due to smaller demand.

During the technological transition period of the 1920s, the “great age of the odd perforation,” many of America’s non-error rarities were issued. A glance at the last few pages and those that follow will make you want to warm up your perforation gauge and go to work!

Rotary Presses
Modernized Printing

Until this regular series issue, rotary presses had printed only stamp coils. Problems with precanceling, weak perfs, and gum were overcome by creative people at the BEP. In October of 1923, the one-cent perf. 10 stamp was issued in sheet form on a rotary press. The production rate of the rotary press over the flat plate press was substantial and cheaper – only .053¢ per 1,000 compared to .08¢. When millions of stamps are involved, this a lot of money.

595 Washington

Unlike other coil waste sheets, the 2¢ Washington had not been perforated horizontally or vertically. A specially designed flat-bed machine was used to produce both sets of perforations. Limited supplies along with difficulty in identification have made these stamps very valuable.

In the Pursuit of Happiness

Fear and persecution in Europe drove people to the sea. The Huguenots (French Protestants) came ashore at Mayport, Florida, in 1562. The ill-fated settlement was destroyed by disease, Indians, and finally, the Spanish. The Walloons (French and Belgian Protestants) fared better. The Dutch West India Company engaged them in 1624 to settle "New Netherland" at Fort Orange, now the city of Albany, capital of New York State.

These beautiful bi-color stamps honor the first Norwegian settlers in the United States. On October 9th, 1825, the first Norwegian immigrants arrived in New York on the sloop Restaurationen. In the year 1000 AD, Leif Ericson and his men had visited America as well. The stamps picture the sailing vessels both groups used. If you notice an unusual flag on the Viking ship, it's the Stars and Stripes! This design shows a replica sailed from Norway to America in 1893 for the World's Columbian Exposition.

The two-color production costs for these stamps were high, so quantities printed were low. Now they're scarce and elusive.

White Plains Souvenir Sheet

America's First Souvenir Sheet – the 1926 White Plains

A commemorative honoring the 150th anniversary of the Battle of White Plains was issued in 1926 in a 100-stamp sheet. Later that year, a special 25-stamp sheet, with a commemorative inscription in the margin, was issued with the same design for the International Philatelic Exhibition – this was the first US souvenir sheet. Only 107,398 were printed – so today the sheet is very rare. As more and more are locked into permanent collections, it becomes harder to find. So add the White Plains sheet to your collection now.

The "Kansas-Nebraskas" – Trial By Fury

Post Office hold-ups were common in Kansas and Nebraska during the 1920s. Robbers stole stamps and took them to other states to sell. In 1929, overprinted stamps were experimented with in hopes of making it more difficult for stolen stamps to be sold. However, the overprints were often refused as valid postage by unaware postal workers. The public complained, and once the existing supply was used, the trial program was stopped.

Fort Dearborn was built near the mouth of the Chicago River in 1803, and is considered the founding settlement of Chicago. Soldiers from Fort Dearborn protected Americans living on the frontier from hostile Indians. The fort was destroyed in 1812. A replica, complete with articles from the original fort, was built for the 1933 Century of Progress International Exhibition. Chicago's Federal Building was the dominant feature at the fairgrounds. (See page 25 for #766 and #767 souvenir sheets.)

National Parks Stamps Bring Natural Wonders to Our Mail

As a stamp collector, President Franklin D. Roosevelt oversaw the selection of stamp subjects and designs during his administration. In 1934, Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes suggested issuing stamps to advertise the national park system. Ickes felt many Americans were unaware the federal government had set aside vast amounts of land for their enjoyment and for future generations. At his suggestion, 1934 had been declared National Parks Year. A major supporter of the parks, FDR approved the idea immediately, and ten park stamps were issued.

Farley's Follies

In 1933, US Postmaster General James A. Farley purchased several sheets of the Newburgh Peace commemorative (Scott #727) that he had removed from the printing presses before they were gummed or perforated, and autographed them. He gave them to President Franklin Roosevelt, friends and family members. Farley continued this practice with other new stamp issues.

Two years after the first issue, collectors caught wind of the special stamps and sent letters of protest to the Post Office Department and the president. The solution to the outrage was to reissue the stamps ungummed and imperforate in sufficient numbers to satisfy public demand. The special printings became known as "Farley's Special Printings" or "Farley's Follies."

Did You Know?

- Dogs were used to haul mail carts in Sussex, England.
- Mail was transported by dog sleds in Alaska until the late 1950s.
- In northern Scandinavia and Russia, reindeer have been used to carry the mail.
- The first horseless carriage used to move the mail was a steam-driven van in 1897. Later that year, an internal-combustion, petrol-powered vehicle was used experimentally.
- In 1855, the London and Bristol Special Mail became the first train to be used exclusively for mail service. The train consisted of two sorting cars, storage car, and a locomotive.

1943-1944 Overrun Countries Series

The World War II Axis powers consisted of Germany, Italy, and Japan. During the war, these countries conquered large territories. The Axis powers had long prepared for war, developing devastating military technologies. Although many armies bravely opposed the Axis, the enemy's strength and strategies were too much. The Overrun Countries Series honors the 13 countries occupied by the Axis. On the left of each stamp is a phoenix, the great bird of fire from Greek mythology, representing eternal rebirth. On the right is a female, breaking the bonds of oppression.

Nassau Hall – Once Our Nation’s Capitol Building

In 1792, our nation’s capitol moved to its current home in Washington, DC. Before this time, it had been located in several places, including Nassau Hall.

The oldest building on the Princeton University campus in New Jersey, Nassau Hall served as the United States Capitol for four months when the Congress of the Confederation met there in 1783. Scott #1083 shows this historic landmark.

NATO (North American Treaty Organization) was formed in 1950. The alliance was formed to provide a common military defense for member nations against aggression from the former Soviet Union and other Eastern European countries. In addition to providing a cooperative defense against foreign aggression, the goals of NATO include developing international cooperation, crisis support, peacekeeping, and disaster relief.

Each stamp from the American Credo Series features a quote from a notable American. The stamps are fashioned to resemble colonial currency. Symbols that relate to the statement are incorporated into the designs, as well as a likeness of the author's signature. The first stamp contains a statement taken from George Washington's farewell advice to America, specifically those who would be leading the government in the future. All of the credos are important facets of the uniquely American point of view.

The Project Mercury stamp (Scott #1193) was printed and distributed to 305 Post Offices in sealed pouches, long before John Glenn even left on his historic flight. On his safe return, February 20, 1962, at 3:30 p.m., Postal Headquarters ordered the pouches be opened. Within 1½ hours, many offices sold out their entire stock!

Postal Service Renders Rare Stamp "Worthless"

After the discovery of the Hammarskjöld invert error, the Postal Service intentionally printed and issued an identical version of the stamp. This reprint, Scott #1204, was created to devalue the original error stamp and prevent individuals from profiting from the Postal Service's mistake. Later, a court decision ruled this act was illegal. Inverted stamps on cover that are dated before the reissued stamps were available are quite valuable.

The Americana Series

The first stamps in the Americana Series of definitive stamps were issued in 1975. Their subjects relate to the culture and history of America. All the stamps have a common design element unique to this series – an arch of lettering that runs along one side, around the corner and across either the top or bottom of the stamp. When each group of four stamps is placed together, the words form a frame.

The CIA Invert

This candlestick invert was the first stamp issued with a major design element printed upside down since the 1918 Jenny Invert! But, what makes this stamp even more unique is the CIA's involvement. Donald Sundman, discovered CIA employees were involved when he filed an inquiry with the Bureau of Engraving and Printing under the Freedom of Information Act.

1976 Bicentennial Souvenir Sheets

To honor America's 200th anniversary, the Postal Service issued four Souvenir Sheets picturing famous American paintings. Each shows an important event of the Revolutionary War and has five stamps within its design. The stamps are valid for postage but were issued mainly for collectors. The Bicentennial Sheets were created for

Bicentennial State Flags

Issued as part of the ongoing Bicentennial celebration, the 13¢ State Flags pane was a first in US postal history. This was the first time a pane with 50 face-different stamps was issued. Each state is represented by its official flag, with the stamps arranged on the sheet in the order each state was admitted into the Union. Every stamp also has the state's name, Bicentennial emblem and "BICENTENNIAL ERA 1776-1976." The new format proved to be popular with collectors.

Coral reefs are formed by small sea animals. In life, these animals give the coral its color, and in death, their limestone shells create rock-like formations. It is in this fashion that coral reefs build up, and over time, "grow."

The Great Americans...

Longest Definitive U.S. Stamp Set

The popular Great Americans Series honors Americans from all walks of life and their contributions to society. In addition to being the largest series of face-different stamps, it's also the longest-running series of definitive stamps. Sixty-four stamps are in the complete set, all important individuals who were leaders in education, the military, literature, the arts, and human and civil rights. Included in this impressive set are:

- Igor Stravinsky was born near St. Petersburg, Russia. He became a world-renowned composer, best known for orchestrating the ballets of Sergei Diaghilev. In 1945, he became an American citizen.
- Ralph Bunche acted as a mediator between the Israeli and Arab nations during the 1949 Palestine conflicts. For his service, he was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1950.

- John J. Audubon was an American naturalist and painter best known for his accurately detailed pictures of birds in their natural habitat. Audubon's Birds of America pictured 497 bird species on 435 life-sized, colored engravings made from his watercolor paintings. The pages were organized in a specific order, taking readers on a visual tour.
- Charles Drew began his illustrious medical career in 1935. Among his numerous other achievements, he served as the first director of the Blood Transfusion Association for the British and as the first director of the American Red Cross.
- Chester W. Nimitz became commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet in 1941. His strategy of "island hopping" – bypassing smaller Japanese bases to concentrate on more crucial ones – not only saved lives but shortened World War II considerably.

When the federal government prepared to build living quarters for its president and his family, an open contest was sponsored to decide the plan for the building. From a large pool of entrants, James Hoban's design won. Hoban was born in Ireland and drew upon this influence; his drawings were modeled after the Irish Parliament's meeting place, the Leinster House.

1982 State Birds and Flowers

On April 14, 1982, the United States Postal Service issued its second fifty-stamp sheet with all-different designs. Created by artists Arthur and Alan Singer (the first father and son to design a US postage stamp), each stamp is unique. This series is the first of its size to display original artwork for each different stamp. North Carolina and Virginia share both their state flower (Flowering Dogwood) and their state bird (Cardinal).

Yet, each state is represented by an original watercolor painting. Arthur created the birds, while son Alan painted the flowers.

At the time of their issue, these stamps were the most popular in US postal history. Today, they're becoming increasingly scarce. Get yours now.

The United States and Ireland released a joint issue honoring John McCormack. Born in Ireland, McCormack sang in the style of traditional Irish tenors. He performed as a soloist in operas, appearing in La Bohème and Madame Butterfly. In 1919, McCormack became an American citizen, but before his death in 1945, the singer returned to Ireland.

Is This an Unofficial Joint Issue?

In 1984, stamp collectors notices similarities between a US and a Canada stamp each issued for the 25th anniversary of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Although the USPS has never acknowledged it as a joint issue, Canada contradicted that – declaring they are! Both were designed by Ernst Barends, which explains why they are so similar in appearance.

The Canada stamp features an interesting cross-section of the Seaway locks, showing water levels along the passage. At one time the US planned to use the same schematic view, but it didn't work as well on America's smaller-sized stamps. The Canadian stamp is taller and wider than the US version.

1985-87 Transportation Series

Changes in the Transportation Series

If you compare the first Transportation Series, issued from 1981-84, to the 1985-87 series, you will see no cent signs are included on the second installment of the series (or on the third issued from 1987-88). It was decided that removing the cent signs from the stamps gave the designers more room for creativity.

But the practice of only listing a numeral caused confusion with higher denominations. Was a "1" representative of a one-dollar stamp or a one cent? Later, it was decided that $ would be employed on the higher denominations. This change in policy is also the reason behind duplicated stamps like the 2-cent Locomotive first issued in 1981 and the 2-cent Locomotive issued in 1986.

The Presidential Miniature Sheets honor our first 35 presidents in chronological Scott order. All had already been featured on finely engraved stamps, so it was decided that woodcut-like images would provide an interesting variety of design. Each stamp bears a facsimile of its president's signature – itself a collectible item.

For many years, the Postal Service received requests for stamps that could be used for special occasions.

These were the first US stamps to be specifically created for a specialized retail market and the first US booklet to have the UPC (Universal Product Code) bar code on the cover.

Service Inscriptions on Transportation Coils

Service Inscriptions are precancels printed on stamps issued for specific mail situations. There are service inscriptions for Bulk Rate, Non-Profit Organizations, and others. For example, the 17.5-cent racing car stamp (which, by the way, is a Marmon Wasp, the first car to win the Indianapolis 500) was issued both with and without the precancel.

Those issued without the precancel were of little interest to anyone but collectors and seldom used for common postage. But the precanceled version allowed bulk mailers to obtain a substantially lower postage rate by allowing them to sort batches of mail with 500 or more pieces by the Zip + 4 codes. These privileges are especially helpful to non-profit organizations who must count on low operating costs.

Fun Philatelic Facts

The word “philately” was coined by Georges Herpin of Paris as an alternative to timbromanie (stamp madness). Herpin created the word from Greek root words to signify a love, or philos, of things free of tax, or telos – such as a stamp denoting prepayment.

2286-2335 American Wildlife

1987 Wildlife Sheet

Ever since the State Flags sheet was issued in 1976, fifty-stamp sheets have been extremely popular. Featuring wildlife from throughout the US, this colorful sheet was no exception. Artist Chuck Ripper, premiere wildlife designer for the Postal Service, carefully selected and researched the animals, birds, and insects that appear on these beautiful stamps – rendering each one with lifelike detail. Even if you're not an animal lover, you'll want to include this scarce sheet in your collection.

Do You Know the Story Behind Changes in the Transportation Series?

If you compare the first Transportation Series stamps issued from 1981-1984, to the 1985-1987 stamps, you will notice some differences. There are no cent signs included on the second installment of the series (or on the third issued from 1987-1988). It was decided that removing the cent signs from the stamps gave the designers more room for creativity.

But the practice of only listing a numeral caused confusion with higher denominations. Was a "1" representative of a one-dollar stamp or a once cent? Later, it was decided that "$" would be employed on the higher denominations. This change in policy is also the reason behind duplicated stamps like the 2¢ Locomotive first issued in 1981 and the 2¢ Locomotive issued in 1986.

The differences in each of the issues of the Transportation Series make these stamps even more fun and interesting to collect.

The block of four and the souvenir sheet shown at the left were the first American stamps to directly honor the Universal Postal Congress. Each stamp features a classic mode of mail delivery: a stagecoach, a steamboat, a Curtiss JN-4H biplane nicknamed the "Jenny," and an early automobile. These stamps specifically commemorated the 20th Universal Postal Congress, held at the Washington Convention Center.

The Native American tribes of the plains and far west wore headdresses to indicate rank and honor. As detailed on the stamps, the designs employed were very intricate. Much like badges, honor feathers were symbolic awards placed in the headdress, denoting acts of bravery.

World War II 50th Anniversary

World War II was the most significant event of the 20th century. The US Postal Service began planning for the war's 50th anniversary in 1985. It wanted to honor the key events of the war as well as various aspects of national endeavor that contributed to victory for the Allies. But how to do that without producing a thousand stamps?

The solution was a series of se-tenants, one for each year of the war, that consisted of a large center map framed by five stamps on the top and five on the bottom. Five years of commemorating World War II would yield five se-tenants, for a total of 50 stamps – enough for an honorable tribute and enough to accomplish postal service goals.

The world maps are masterpieces of thumbnail summaries. They call attention to the major military and political developments of the year and include events not featured on the individual stamps. Color coded for easy identification of friend and foe, they're "a year in summary" at a glance.

The 1991 stamps spotlight the World at War in 1941, featuring Burma Road, Peacetime Draft, Lend-Lease, Civil Defense, Pearl Harbor, US Declaration of War, and more.

Laurel and Hardy were the most successful comedy team ever! Laurel's character, a thin, dimwitted simpleton, interacted with Hardy's overweight, bully character with hilarious results! Edgar Bergen was an expert ventriloquist, so good that his dummy partner, Charlie McCarthy, often made him look like a dummy. Jack Benny, the violin-playing comedian, was a star on radio, television, and in 18 motion pictures. Comedienne Fanny Brice became famous singing in the Ziegfeld Follies. Her Baby Snooks radio series was her most popular work. Abbott and Costello became partners when Costello's original partner fell ill before a show, and Abbott, who was working in the box office, stood in.

The 23¢ USA and Flag stamps were issued to fulfill the special postal rate granted to bulk mailers who presorted their mail by ZIP code in minimum quantities of 500 pieces. By completing this process, the Postal Service was able to pass on large savings on first-class mail to its larger customers. In all, three different printing companies produced stamps with this design.

1992 Wildflower Sheet Blossoms with Color

Fifty-stamp sheets have always been a favorite with collectors, especially when they feature the beauty of nature, and this Wildflower sheet is no exception. Exquisite flowers in vivid colors make these 50 stamps some of the prettiest and most popular. In fact, the Postal Service was so certain this sheet would be in high demand, they ordered a press run three times larger than that for normal commemoratives! All of the wildflowers pictured on this lovely sheet are native to America, and at least one or more can be found in each of the 50 states. Available in full mint sheets or as used singles.

1992 World War II

Stamp collectors like sets to be sets, so artist William H. Bond and art director Howard Paine teamed up to oversee the five-year World War II project. The project involved the Postal Service, Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps historians, and the State Department. Everything had to be "just right" – the timing of events, the accuracy of detail, the mood and feel of subjects depicted.

1942 was America's first full year of participation in the war. It was a year of (For other WWII 50th Anniversary se-tenants, see pages 73, 78, 80 & 84.)

coming from behind for the Allies as the 1992 se-tenant "Into the Battle" shows. The map and stamps focus on bombing Tokyo, Coral Sea, Midway, and the deciphering of enemy codes, as well as Corregidor, Guadalcanal, and other crucial topics.

The 1993 Chinese New Year stamp calls attention to the Chinese lunar calendar. According to the lunar calendar, on January 23, 1993, the year 4691 began. This ancient calendar follows a twelve-year cycle, with each year symbolized by a different animal. As featured on the stamp, issued in December 1992, the Rooster was the animal for 1993. Two ideograms are also featured, written in Kanji, a written language developed from Chinese by the Japanese.

theaters of operations and historical World War II events. Significant non-combat events from 1943 are also featured to reflect how the war affected American life as well as the rest of the world.

This and subsequent WWII sheets were issued earlier than previous ones because collectors wanted to use individual stamps to create 50th anniversary First Day Covers. "Turning the Tide" focuses on the efforts of thousands of GI Joes in the European Theater.

Stamp collectors chuckled when New Jersey politicians battled the Postal Service over the omission of New Jersey on the World Cup map. All the games in this major metropolitan area were scheduled to be played at Giants Stadium in East Rutherford, NJ. New Jersey politicians accused the Postal Service of insensitivity and not giving New Jersey the respect it was due. The Postal Service refused to recall and reprint the sheet, but, in apology, issued a 9 x 12-inch First Day of Issue panel with a prominent East Rutherford, NJ, inscription.

Printing Improvements Made The Rockwell Stamps Possible

A Triple Self-Portrait and Four Freedoms reflect the technological improvements in offset printing. That allowed for the reduction from Rockwell's 44" x 48" paintings to tiny 1" x 1½" stamps. Rockwell's paintings of ordinary folks were filled with gentle humor and respect for humanity's basic values. Rockwell designed three other stamps: Scott #1145, 1238, and 1470.

On July 20, 1969, astronaut Neil Armstrong spoke the words, "That's one small step for a man, one giant leap for mankind," and stepped out of the safety of the lunar module Eagle and onto the surface of the Moon. This stamp celebrates the 25th anniversary of that amazing achievement.

Celebrate the Allies' March Toward Victory!

A 1994 Postal Service sales policy forbade postal clerks to sell individual stamps from full sheets. So the only way people could get these World War II commemoratives was to buy the whole set.

This wasn't a serious problem for the World War II Series because most were purchased as souvenirs and kept intact. In fact, the Postal Service estimated that 33.7 million were bought and retained in 1994, making these stamps the third most popular of the year.

The Road to Victory se-tenant spotlights Normandy, freeing Rome and Paris, and the efforts of the Airborne and Red Ball Express. Other stamps focus on events in the Pacific.

100 Years of Stamp Printing at the BEP!

This souvenir sheet celebrates the 100th Anniversary of US stamp printing by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing (BEP). Previously, private companies had printed America's stamps. The #262 stamp featured on the sheet was created in 1894 and was one of the first two designed at the BEP.

Are These Legendary Stamps In Your Collection?

Now you can own the stamps that created one of the biggest controversies ever in American philately! The stamp featuring the famous rodeo cowboy Bill Pickett on the first version of the Legends of the West sheet actually pictured his brother Ben. Those stamps were withdrawn, and although they were never released for sale, a small amount had been sold, creating a precious rarity. Soon after, the Postal Service decided to sell 150,000 Legends error sheets by mail order lottery to recoup printing costs, creating a great deal of controversy. Mystic now has a small supply of this philatelic gem!

And to make your collection complete, you'll want to own the reprinted sheet as well. With them both in your collection, you'll have the full story of the Legends error. Send for your mint sheets or used singles today!

Sweeping rate changes and the use of four different printers left some collectors a little confused. G-rate stamp printers included: the Bureau of Engraving and Printing; the American Bank Note Company; Stamp Venturers; and Avery-Denison, a pioneer in the field of self-adhesive stamps.

When designs for the 1995 stamps were first announced in 1994, the World War II se-tenant carried one design which was never issued. This stamp pictured a "mushroom cloud" from an atomic weapon. Many people, including survivors of the atomic blasts at Hiroshima and Nagasaki, were offended by the stamp. Another group insisted the stamp was necessary to maintain the series' accurate depiction of the war. Eventually, President Bill Clinton requested that the design be changed; in its place the "Truman announces Japan's surrender, Aug. 14, 1945" stamp was issued.

The final tribute to the heroic people who helped win the war in countless ways was issued September 2, the 50th anniversary of Japan's formal surrender. The dedication ceremonies took place in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Comic Strip Classics

Have Fun with Comic Strip Classics

Few people know that 100 years ago yellow journalism got its name from America's first comic strip – The Yellow Kid. A purely American art form, the comics have been going strong ever since, giving us our daily dose of fun and laughter. The Postal Service estimates that 113 million Americans read the Sunday comics regularly!

The 1995 Comic Strip Classics stamps illustrate 20 strips from the first 50 years of the "funnies." The back of each stamp features a capsule history of the comic on the front. It's easy to see why these stamps are so popular.

This entertaining and informative sheet of 20 se-tenant stamps is destined to become a classic in its own right. Used set supplied as singles.

When the USPS announced it wouldn't issue stamps with religious significance in 1995, President Bill Clinton demanded this tradition continue. The 1995 Madonna and Child stamp features the work of Italian Renaissance painter Giotto. Considered the father of Italian painting, his realistic style revolutionized art and influenced the Renaissance painters of the 1400s.

Centennial Olympic Stamps

This sheet of 20 stamps was issued in honor of the 100th anniversary of the modern Olympic Games. The 1996 Summer Olympics were held in Atlanta, Georgia two months later. The stamps feature paintings by Richard Waldrep depicting athletes in popular American Olympic events.

The Ancient Olympic Games were held between 776 BC and 394 AD, when Theodosius I abolished them. In 1896, Pierre de Coubertin organized the first modern Olympics, believing friendly athletic competition could promote world peace. Those games included 285 athletes, from 13 nations, in 42 events. Considered a success, they became an international tradition.

A New Kind of Mint Stamp

The Riverboat stamps introduced a new kind of mint stamp – self-adhesives that separate with the backing intact.

This se-tenant pays tribute to all the steamboats that opened the Hudson, Mississippi, Missouri, Columbia, and Chattahoochee-Apalachicola rivers.

Some mint se-tenant stamps, such as those at right, are supplied out of Scott order due to format of printed sheet.

3119 Cycling Souvenir Sheet

Make Your Collection Wild "Protect and Collect"

From the elegant Schaus swallowtail butterfly to the stealthy Florida panther, this sheet captures the unique character and beauty of 15 animals on the US Fish and Wildlife Service's Endangered Species list. Issued for National Stamp Collecting Month, the theme of which was "Protect and Collect," this sheet calls attention to their plight.

Each stamp design is based on photographs by James Balog, whose work can be found in National Geographic and Outside magazines. Balog found the idea of creating photographs that would be reduced to stamp size a challenge – but, as you can see, the results are spectacular. Available as mint sheet or set of used singles.

Bugs Bunny Breaks New Ground

The first self-adhesive sheet produced in the US, this was also the first US stamp to picture a cartoon character. Despite early criticism of that fact, the sheet was so popular it inspired four more Looney Tunes sheets. The 10th stamp imperforate pane was one of the rarest issues in 70 years, with only 118,000 sheets issued. All others were destroyed by the USPS!

Hidden Images on 1997 Stamps

The US Air Force, Classic Movie Monsters, and Mars Pathfinder stamps all bear hidden images that can only be detected by a special stamp decoder. This decoder is a flat piece of plastic that is laid over the stamps. For example, if you were to view the Movie Monsters stamps with the decoder you'd find hidden opera masks, vampire bats, wolf heads, Egyptian characters and figures, and lightning bolts. It's yet another neat feature the USPS has tried out to prevent the counterfeiting of postage stamps.

Celebrate the Century is the longest and most ambitious commemorative stamp series in US history! It contains the first stamp subjects chosen by the public.

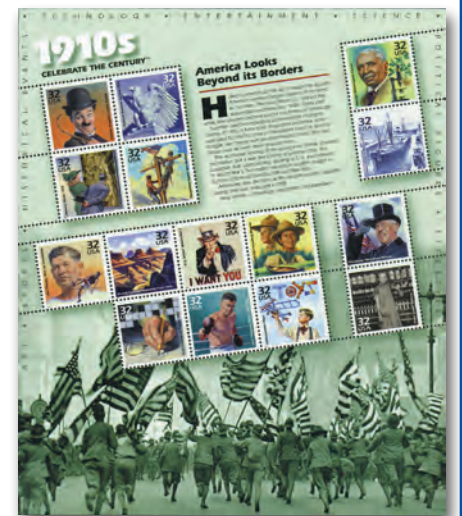

The sheets feature an unusual layout, with rows of stamps at an angle. Plus, the 1900-1970 sheets each contain one engraved design – the rest of the sheet was offset printed. This format and combination of printing types was difficult to create – resulting in some error stamps.

The number of Celebrate the Century panes issued was gradually reduced as the series continued. 12.5 million 1900-1950s panes were released; 8 million 1960s panes; 6 million 1970 and '80s panes. Just 5.5 million of the 1990s panes were issued – less than half the number of the first! Get yours while they're still available and affordable.

USPS Breaks Its Own Rules to Celebrate the Century

Because the Celebrate the Century Series was created to give an overview of each decade of the 20th century, the USPS made the decision to violate some long-standing rules regarding postage stamp subject and design criteria.

Several of the stamps in the series show consumer goods that affected American life, like the Model T Ford and the Sunbeam Mixmaster. Others show stamp subjects which had recently been honored on stamps (violating the rule against stamps honoring the same subject in a ten-year period). The USPS felt that strict adherence to these rules would leave unwanted gaps in history.

Another unique quality of the Celebrate the Century Series is that the subjects on the last five sheets were decided by means of a public voting ballot.

First U.S. Stamp to Feature Die-Cut Face!

In the upper-left corner of the Alfred Hitchcock stamp is the instantly recognizable silhouette caricature of the legendary film director. This silhouette is actually die cut into the face of the stamp – it's the first US stamp to feature this unique design element. This die-cut was not announced before the issue of the stamp. The stamp is the fourth installment of the Legends of Hollywood Series.

Rare Unissued “Yellow Hat” Stamp Only 230 Known!

The Yellow Hat is a rare and unique stamp that shouldn't exist. This stamp was printed for a proposed postcard rate increase in 1997. The rate was rejected and the stamps were ordered to be destroyed. However, a small number were sold at post offices and can be found in used condition. This and the “H” stamps below were the last lettered non-denominated stamps.

The Tropical Flowers were the first stamps ever to be issued in a unique new "convertible booklet" format. Each convertible booklet has 12 stamps on the back side of the release liner paper and eight stamps on the front.

Artist Steve Buchanan created these beautiful stamp designs. Conceived as a single piece of art, these attractive stamps form a continuous design.

Hubble Telescope

The Hubble telescope is in orbit over 300 miles above the surface of the Earth. This allows it to escape the effects of the atmosphere, which otherwise would blur images. The Hubble can detect objects 50-times fainter than those observed on Earth.

The Stars and Stripes

In a little less than 200 years, the Stars and Stripes increased its constellation from 13 to 50 stars. It has been an accurate chronicle of the growth of this great nation. The 20-stamp Stars and Stripes sheet pictures the original 13-star flag, our current 50-star flag, and eighteen others.

Deep Sea Creatures

The fish shown on the Deep Sea Creatures strip of 5 live in the lower mid-water and deepwater regions of the ocean. Reaching depths of over 35,000 feet in places, this region is totally devoid of light. In order to live in such an environment, many of the fish have light-producing organs within their bodies.

Greetings from America

The April 4, 2002, release of the "Greetings from America" sheet marked the first time a US postage stamp was issued on the same day in every state!

This is the fifth 50-stamp se-tenant sheet issued by the US Like the 1976 State Flags, 1982 State Birds and Flowers, 1987 American Wildlife, and 1992 Wildflowers, it has proven to be very popular. Supplies are shrinking fast!

Teddy bears have been part of American culture for 100 years. The toy owes its nickname to our 26th President. On a 1902 hunting trip, Theodore "Teddy" Roosevelt refused to shoot a bear tied to a tree. A cartoon in the Washington Post immortalized the incident. Soon after, Brooklyn store owner Morris Michtom asked the president for permission to call stuffed bears "Teddy's Bears."

Masters of American Photography

The striking images featured on this sheet represent 20 of the greatest American photographers. The stamps are arranged in chronological order according to when the pictures were taken. The earliest photographs date back to the Civil War era. The sheet's salvage depicts a photographer with an antiquated camera on the edge of a cliff, from a photo attributed to William Henry Jackson. This sheet marks the 100th anniversary of the birth of Ansel Adams. Beautiful and historic, this sheet is a must for your modern US stamp collection.

A Celebration of the Rare Hawaiian Missionary Stamps

By the 1840s, many American missionaries had settled in the Kingdom of Hawaii. At that time, sending a letter to the US meant asking a ship captain to mail the letter once he reached a US port. The captain was paid two cents for his service.

As mail increased, a better system was needed. On June 18, 1851, the Kingdom of Hawaii authorized the printing of postage stamps. Used almost exclusively by missionaries, the first Hawaii stamps became known as "Missionaries." The stamps went on sale October 1, 1851.

A 2¢ stamp paid postage to the US for newspapers and printed circulars. A 5¢ stamp transported a letter from the Honolulu post office to a ship at harbor. The 13¢ stamp paid the 5¢ Hawaiian postage to the ship, the 2¢ captain's fee, plus 6¢ for US postage from San Francisco to the East.

3820 Madonna and Child

The 2003 Madonna and Child "traditional" Christmas stamp is a reissue of the 2002 design, reformatted as a double-sided convertible booklet. It features Jan Gossaert's oil-on-panel painting Madonna and Child, created circa 1520. This masterpiece, noted for its serene quality, hangs in the Art Institute of Chicago.

The National World War II Memorial in Washington, DC, is dedicated to all who served – military veterans, as well as citizens on the home front. More than 15 million men and about 338,000 women served in the US Armed Forces during WWII. The war succeeded in ending oppressive European dictatorships.

U.S. Forever Stamps Timeline

The first Forever stamp (US #4125) was issued April 12, 2007. This made things easier for postal workers AND customers. Forever stamps were created to cover first-class postage rates. They were designed for customers to be able to purchase at the current first-class rate and use them anytime in the future, regardless of rate increases. This meant there would be no future need for rate-change stamps, making things easier on both the USPS and mailers.

For several years, US #4125 was the only Forever stamp and other stamps of the time were issued with the current denominations. In 2010, the USPS released several new Forever stamps. And since 2011, all new first-class stamps have been Forever stamps. Global Forever stamps were introduced in 2013 for first-class international mail. In 2015, the Forever concept was applied to postcard stamps, non-machinable surcharge stamps, and two- and three-ounce stamps.

American industrial designer Henry Dreyfuss said, "If people are made safer, more comfortable, more eager to purchase, more efficient, or just happier, the designer has succeeded." The Pioneers of Industrial Design sheet features household items that were successful in these areas.

In addition to the desk telephone, Dreyfuss invented the first upright Hoover vacuum and the "Princess" phone. Besides the streamlined pencil sharpener, Raymond Loewy designed the interiors of Air Force One and NASA's Skylab.

2012 Regular Issue Stamps

Baltimore Checkerspot
Butterfly

More than man's best friend, dogs provide a variety of services to people. As guide dogs, they lead the blind. Search and rescue dogs help find disaster victims while police and military dogs can detect drugs, guns, and explosives. Therapy dogs, known for their friendliness, comfort the elderly and sick.

These 65¢ stamps were used on letters up to two ounces.

Most early Colonial weathervanes were made from wood, with few lasting through the centuries. More durable versions were made from metals such as tin or copper. Creative artisans gave them more and more elaborate shapes. Roosters, hunting dogs, running horses, and ships are just some of the countless themes. These often emerge as valuable heirlooms. A mid-19th century bronze horse and rider fetched $700,000 in a 1990 auction.

Close relations between the US and France were further strengthened in the 20th century by the music of Miles Davis and Edith Piaf. Piaf's style has been described as the French version of American blues. One of the greatest US jazz musicians, Davis introduced several new styles while living in Paris.

2012 Commemoratives

Groundbreaking changes in the dance world began when Isadora Duncan introduced natural movements, loose-fitting tunics, and bare feet into her dances.

José Limón looked to classic literature and religion for his dance themes. His powerful dancers gave males a more significant role.

Choreographer and anthropologist Katherine Dunham researched Caribbean religious rituals and developed a style of performance that celebrated the African roots of Black Americans.

Bob Fosse borrowed elements of tap dance, cabaret performances, and acting to create a signature style that still influences dancers today.

All of these Innovative Choreographers made their own mark on the dance world.

The sheet pictured to the left was issued to honor the 100th birth anniversary of Lady Bird Johnson, who spearheaded the movement to beautify US roadways.

The artwork on the five attached stamps is based on stamps issued in the 1960s to encourage beautification of America's cities, parks and highways by planting flowers. The sixth stamp features a portrait of Johnson as First Lady. The sheet also includes a quote by Lady Bird and a black-and-white image from a family photograph.

2015 Commemoratives

Born in Mexico, Martín Ramírez came to America seeking a better life. Jobs were difficult to find during the Depression and he didn't speak English.

When Ramírez was found homeless and did not speak, he was admitted to a hospital. While there, he created art from discarded and improvised materials, including junk mail, paper bags, and examining table paper. He also crushed crayons in homemade pots to make paint.

His art was skillful and intricate with religious symbols, burros, and trains. Though his work was virtually unknown during his lifetime, Ramírez is now considered one of the greatest artists of the 20th century.

AIRMAIL STAMPS

The first US Airmail stamp, #C3, was issued on May 13, 1918. This stamp paid for the innovative new service and also included special delivery. Over the years, many Airmail stamps were issued for new rates and special mail, like the 1930 Graf Zeppelin issues.

By October 11, 1975, use of aircraft to transport mail had become so common that US domestic airmail was merged with First-Class mail. Since that time, all Airmail stamps actually have been issued for international mail. Airmail stamps document the modernization of America's postal system.

Curtiss Jenny Inverted Error

The rare #C3a inverted error is one of the most recognized stamps in the world! Only 100 were created. All came from a single sheet caused by a printer's error. These precious stamps have been featured in movies and survived great ordeals, making them the stuff of legend. #C3a remains one of the greatest prizes in philately.

1930 Graf Zeppelin Issues

The legendary Graf Zeppelin was the most successful rigid airship ever. Between 1928 and 37, it flew more than a million miles. C13-15 were issued for the zeppelin's first round-trip voyage from Europe to North and South America. 3,260,000 "Zep" stamps were printed, but 90 percent were destroyed! Today they are among the most desirable US stamps.

Jets cut delivery time!

When Pan American introduced the Boeing 707 in 1958, it speeded up the mail considerably. Powered by four turbojet engines, the 707 has a wingspan of over 130 feet and a length of nearly 145 feet. These jets carried a 46,153-pound payload and cruised at 570 miles per hour over very long distances, slashing flying times almost in half! In 1970, the world's first jumbo jet, the Boeing 747, increased the efficiency of mail delivery even more.

Stamp #C58 had a major problem inherent to its design. Ink from one side of the stamp seeped into the picture portion during the printing process, a problem compounded by the use of different colors. To correct this, a new version was created with a gutter, a space added to separate the two design features. This new version was released in 1961 as C63.

First Ever U.S. Jumbo Commemorative!
 On July 20, 1969, Neil Armstrong, followed by Edwin "Buzz" Aldrin, became the first men to stand on the Moon. As Armstrong stepped out of the Apollo II lunar module, the Eagle, he spoke the famous words, "That's one small step for [a] man, one giant leap for mankind." Later, Armstrong commented to Aldrin, "It has a stark beauty all its own. It's like much of the high desert in the United States. It's different, but it's very pretty out here."
 The engraved master die to this stamp accompanied the astronauts all the way to the Moon's surface! Also, an envelope bearing a proof of the stamp was canceled in the space capsule.

STAMP ALBUMS, BINDERS, COLLECTING SUPPLIES

How to Choose Your New Album

If you are a beginning collector, try choosing an album that is pre-printed with identifying illustrations like the American Heirloom Album. Or save time with Mystic's Hingeless American Heirloom Album. Crystal-clear mounts have already been attached to every page, so you only need to insert your stamps. Whatever your collecting needs, Mystic has the right album for you!

Hingeless American Heirloom Album Our Finest U.S. Stamp Album

Over 1,700 pages have pre-affixed mounts and illustrations for virtually every US postage stamp issued during the dates indicated. Each stamp is identified by Scott number, the same numbers Mystic uses. Thicker paper supports your stamps. It's quality you can see and feel! Pick the volume you need – or save money on the complete set.

- Crystal-clear protective mounts are affixed to extra-heavy stock paper. Just slide your stamps in place and enjoy!
- Binder and slipcase has expertly hand-stitched bookbinding
- Elegant green binding looks and feels like real leather
- Binder weighs a substantial 1.5 pounds
- 3-ring design allows pages to lie flat for easy viewing and adding stamps or supplements
- Each stamp illustrated and identified by Scott Catalogue number
- Includes historic stamp information – you'll love discovering the stories behind your stamps

Mystic's American Heirloom Album

America's Best-Value Stamp Album!

Get our best-selling American Heirloom Album today. It's got everything you need to organize your collection. AND, since it's spread out across six volumes, there's no crowding once your stamps have been mounted or hinged to the pages. Here's why it's so popular with our collector family:

- Three-ring binders allow pages to lie completely flat, so it's easy to mount and view your stamps or add pages.
- High-quality, crème-colored paper measuring 8.5" x 11"
- Each stamp is identified by Scott number.
- Crisp and clear images of every stamp make it easy to find the right spot to place each one.
- Stories behind the stamps allow you to discover neat facts you may not have known – makes collecting even more fun!
